Getting to know Jessica Perez, our Customer Service Specialist!

Pick up the phone to call Miner Family Winery and chances are Jessica Perez will answer. Jessica has worked here for a little more than a year, and is already an expert on all things Miner—not to mention all things wine, having spent most of her life in Napa. From our wine club to the tasting room, gifting, and nearly all customer-related responsibilities in between, Jessica is ready to lend her know-how. When she's not in Oakville, you can find her at home with her big, friendly goldendoodle, Lucas—aka "Handsome Fella"—planning her next vacation in Puerto Rico and dreaming of an even more exotic trip to the Maldives and its pristine, blue waters. But first, Jessica confesses, she needs to learn how to swim!

2023 Harvest Update:

"Looking at the 2023 harvest, I would say this is definitely going to be a vintage where you're going to see elegant, expressive wines that have a lot of nuance and complexity," Michelle summed up just after the last cabernet sauvignon grapes arrived at the crushpad, signaling the end of harvest. The chardonnays and other white wines are in barrel and tank, mostly finishing their primary fermentation and beginning malolactic fermentation. "We're just now starting to get into drains and presses for the red wines," Michelle added. "We'll be doing barrel-downs of the reds as we drain them from tank and press out the remaining juice. And yields were up this year, so we should definitely be seeing a lot more wine available."
